Amendment to the Regulations on the Evaluation of Grant Applications under the PROM Project—Short-Term Academic Exchange (NAWA) at the Ludwik Hirszfeld Institute of Immunology and Experimental Therapy of the Polish Academy of Sciences

Approved on December 15, 2025

Effective August 31, 2026 the following changes are introduced:

from

The Regulations define detailed criteria for the eligibility of applications for the implementation of three types of mobility under the PROM project. The main assumption of the project:

- PhD students of DS HIET (70% in total),
- staff of the HIET PAS (30% in total) - persons employed on the basis of employment contracts or civil law contracts in the following positions: scientific and research and technology; others, as long as their participation in the project is substantively justified.

to

The Regulations define detailed criteria for the eligibility of applications for the implementation of three types of mobility under the PROM project. The main assumption of the project:

- PhD students of DS HIET and international students (70% in total),
- staff of the HIET PAS (30% in total) - persons employed on the basis of employment contracts or civil law contracts in the following positions: scientific and research and technology; others, as long as their participation in the project is substantively justified.

For Mobility 1

from

Funding from the PROM project covers: travel, living expenses (including, among others, lodging and meals) for up to 5 days, and the conference fee.

to

Funding from the PROM project covers: travel, living expenses (including, among others, lodging and meals), the conference fee, and a scholarship.

For Mobility 2

from

Funding from the PROM project covers: travel, living expenses (including, among others, lodging and meals) for up to 5 days, and the registration fee.

to

Funding from the PROM project covers: travel, living expenses (including, among others, lodging and meals), the registration fee, and a scholarship.

For Mobility 3

from

Funding from the PROM project covers: travel, living expenses (including, among others, lodging and meals) for up to 14 days (including travel time).

fo

Funding from the PROM project covers: travel, living expenses (including, among others, lodging and meals), and a scholarship.